

POLITICAL VIOLENCE (International)

War, Terrorism and Political Violence (WTPV) insurance has developed significantly in recent years, driven by increasing demand for broader coverage amid a fast-changing risk environment.

Notwithstanding improved intelligence and threat awareness, terrorism remains a constant risk to a wide range of industries around the world. In addition, the scale of losses stemming from strikes, riots, civil commotion and malicious damage (SRCCMD) has been alarming and the power of social media has fueled widespread unrest. There are also territories where the risk of war will always be present, impacting both local businesses and international companies with global exposures.

Socio-economic frustrations have heightened since the pandemic and many policyholders face an uncertain future.

Mosaic's leading underwriters have decades of experience writing WTPV coverage throughout the world. We offer clients an extensive range of products to help them navigate a volatile operating environment. Our industry-leading service and innovative approach ensure we provide client-focused solutions to modern risks, through either new niche products or restructuring large, complex programs.
